Section Social and General Statistics

This note contains statistics on working-age claimants of Employment and Support Allowance (ESA) and its predecessor incapacity-related benefits in each of the 632 constituencies in Great Britain in November 2011. Figures for Northern Ireland are not currently included.

In November 2011 there were 2.57 million working-age claimants of these benefits in Great Britain. This represents 6.5% of the population aged 16 to 64. 67 constituencies had claimant rates of 10% or more.

1 ESA and predecessor benefits – a brief overview

The figures in this note relate to Employment and Support Allowance (ESA), the benefit specifically aimed at those who are unable to work due to incapacity, and the incapacity-related benefits which ESA superseded upon its introduction in October 2008, but which are still payable to people whose claims began before this date. This section contains a brief description of these benefits.

1.1 Employment and Support Allowance (ESA)

From 27 October 2008 Employment and Support Allowance replaced Incapacity Benefit and Income Support paid on incapacity grounds for new claimants. Eligibility is determined by a Work Capability Assessment (see Library Standard Note SN/SP/5850 for more details).

Around 1.5 million of the remaining claimants of ESA's predecessors – Incapacity Benefit, Severe Disablement Allowance and Income Support paid on the grounds of illness or disability – will have their claims reviewed as part of a reassessment programme running until Spring 2014. Those found eligible will be transferred onto ESA. Details of the reassessment programme are on the DWP website.

1.2 Incapacity Benefit (IB)

Incapacity Benefit was introduced in April 1995 to replace Sickness Benefit and Invalidity Benefit. It is a mainly contributory benefit paid to those who began their current claim before 27 October 2008.

Until 6 April 2001, entitlement to IB payments was based purely on National Insurance contributions. From that date, an exemption from the contribution conditions was introduced for those who would previously have been eligible for Severe Disablement Allowance (see below).

A claimant who does not meet the contribution conditions for IB payments can still receive IB credits – which increase the claimant's NI contribution record – while receiving payments via Income Support (see below). Recipients of IB payments also receive credits.

1.3 Income Support paid on the grounds of illness or disability

For claims starting before October 2008, claimants who had not paid enough NI contributions to receive Incapacity Benefit payments may instead receive means-tested Income Support on the grounds of illness or disability. This can be received in conjunction with IB credits. Recipients of IB or SDA payments may also have their benefit receipt topped up with Income Support.

1.4 Severe Disablement Allowance (SDA)

SDA is a non-contributory benefit for people who are at least 80 per cent disabled or whose incapacity began when they were under 20. The Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999 abolished SDA for new claimants from 6 April 2001. From that date, some new claimants who would previously have qualified for Severe Disablement Allowance became entitled to Incapacity Benefit instead. Existing SDA claimants were unaffected.

(Note – Disability Living Allowance (DLA) is not within the scope of this note. DLA is payable on the basis of care or mobility need rather than inability to work per se, and is therefore not classed as an out-of-work benefit.)

2 Constituency tables

The DWP produces quarterly data on claimants of ESA and predecessor benefits. The tables in this note show the following breakdowns (claimant levels rounded to nearest ten):

| Totals - all claim durations | | | | Claiming for over 1 year | | | | |
|------------------------------|------|-----------|----------|--------------------------|------|-----------|---|----------|
| ESA and other | | Of which: | | ESA and other | | Of which: | | |
| incapacity benefits | | ESA | IB / SDA | incapacity benefits | | ESA | Contrib. ESA and in WRAG | IB / SDA |
| level | rate | level | level | level | rate | level | level % of all claiming ESA for 1 year+ | level |

- ESA and other incapacity benefits: working-age claimants of ESA or one of its predecessor incapacity-related benefits (see section 1 for overview). The claimant level is shown as well as a claimant rate – the numbers of claimants expressed as a percentage of the resident population aged 16-64.

The total claimant level is then broken down to show:

- ESA: Only those claiming ESA (i.e. claims commencing or reassessed in October 2008 or later). As more claimants flow onto ESA and/or off its predecessors, ESA will represent an ever larger proportion of the incapacity-related benefit caseload. By Spring 2014, when the reassessment programme is expected to conclude, all ongoing claims for the predecessor benefits will have closed or been shifted onto ESA.
- IB / SDA: working-age claimants whose claims began before October 2008 and who are receiving either Incapacity Benefit or Severe Disablement Allowance (alone or in conjunction with Income Support paid on the grounds of illness or disability).

An extra breakdown is shown for people claiming for over one year:

- Contrib. ESA and in WRAG: The number of people who have been claiming contributory ESA for over a year and who have been placed in the Work Related Activity Group (WRAG). Claimants in the WRAG are expected to take part in work-focused interviews aimed at helping them back into work.

In the 2010 Spending Review it was announced that as of 2012-13 contributory ESA claimants in the WRAG will see their contribution-based payments time-limited to one year.¹ See Library note SN/SP/6305 Time limiting of contributory Employment and Support Allowance from 30 April 2012 for more details.

Note that due to rounding of the data at constituency level, the separate figures for 'ESA' and 'IB / SDA' in each area may not equal the total figure shown in 'ESA and other incapacity benefits'. Also, the constituency data shown may not sum exactly to regional or national totals.

In November 2011 there were 2.57 million working-age claimants of ESA and other incapacity benefits in Great Britain. This is 6.5% of the population aged 16-64. Figures for individual parliamentary constituencies show considerable variation with some areas having much higher claimant rates than average. Constituencies in areas where employment was dependent on heavy industry and mining and where unemployment is relatively high tend also to have above-average incapacity claimant rates.
